Small Talk!

Depression is a disorder that involves feelings of sadness lasting for two weeks or longer, often accompanied by a loss of interest in life, hopelessness, and decreased energy. Such distressing feelings can affect one's ability to perform the usual tasks and activities of daily living¹.

Grief counseling is a specific form of therapy designed to help you grieve and address personal loss in a healthy manner, which is available in several formats².

FYI

To increase awareness and reduce the stigma attached to mental health, we will provide monthly informational sessions, during which, we will present research findings on various topics that are addressable through evidence-based counseling interventions. All sessions are open to the public, free and will last approximately 60 - 90 minutes.

Parents' Corner

We offer Educational Consultation services that provide parents with information, guidance, support and an objective evaluation that addresses their child's psychological wellbeing and educational abilities.

Services include the development of an educational plan that addresses academics and dysfunctional or problematic behavior. Individual and family sessions are available to work on items identified in the treatment plan.

We also have a dedicated art/play therapy room designed to help children explore their thoughts, feelings and behaviors in an expressive manner.
